EFFORT IS MADE TO CONVINCE JURY OF INNOCENCE

DEFENSE CLAIMS WOMAN DIED OF PTOMALINE POISONING
AT TOMS RIVER.

GROUND GLASS IN THE BODY

Explained by Dr. Marshall—Witness Says Arsenic Caused Mrs.
Brouwer's Death.

Toms River, N. J., Oct. 13.—Believing they made excellent progress yesterday in establishing the innocence of their client, the attorneys for Dr. Frank Brouwer on trial for the murder of his wife, began their second day of getting in their evidence with increased confidence today. They believe they will be able to convince the jury that Mrs. Brouwer's death was caused by ptomaine poisoning.

This was the line of defense outlined in the opening address to the jury. The first testimony offered, however, was directed to offsetting some of the declarations made by the prosecution's witnesses before the eyes of the jury.

Dr. John Marshall, one of the defense's experts performed an experiment showing that strychnine placed in the nutrient which Dr. Brouwer prepared for his wife could not cause the change in color. One of the witnesses had testified she noticed this change in its color in the particular dish prepared by Dr. Brouwer.

Dr. Marshall also offered evidence tending to explain the presence of the ground glass found in Mrs. Brouwer's organs, upholding the contention of the defense that it came from the test tubes in which the organs were analyzed. He said he had found glass similar to the particles revealed by the analysis in four out of six test tubes he purchased. The glass particles remain in the tubes even when washed.

Dr. Marshall also strengthened the defense's case by swearing that arsenic might have gotten into the body from the embalming instruments, although a fluid containing arsenic was not used in the case.

Miss McClennahan, with whom the prosecution claims Brouwer was infatuated testified for the accused doctor, denying that her relations with Brouwer had ever been more than friendly.

The state made its strongest point in closing its case. Dr. Washington, an expert, testified in reply to the prosecution's hypothetical question that he believed Mrs. Brouwer's death was due to arsenical poisoning and that her convulsions were in his opinion caused by strychnine. He said on cross examination that ptomaine poisoning could not have caused the convulsions.

Brouwer's Defense.
Toms River, N. J., Oct. 13.—The prosecution rested its case against Dr. Frank Brouwer, charged with having poisoned his wife, and the defense began the presentation of testimony on behalf of the accused physician. The state endeavored to establish that Mrs. Brouwer came to her death from the effects of arsenic administered by her husband. The line of defense mapped out by the counsel for Dr. Brouwer will be that the woman died of ptomaine poisoning in food she had eaten.

RENEGADE UTES

Calls It a Canard.

He said: "I am the only native Guatemalan in the city of New Orleans, and so the existence of anything so serious as a junta may be considered a myth. The annexation sentiment has no standing in Guatemala, unless it is about the same standing that Socialism has in this country. CUBAN ELECTION WILL NOT BE HELD UNTIL NEXT SPRING

This Will Necessitate Appointment of Another Vice Governor of the Philippines.

Washington, Oct. 13.—The administration has been convinced according to a high official of the state department, that it would be impossible to hold new elections in Cuba until after the next sugar grinding season is over. This means April, May or June, the latter month being the most strongly favored by those in touch with the situation in Havana. Consequently Governor Magoon is apparently booked for a stay of at least nine months in Cuba.

For this reason it has been decided to appoint another vice governor of the Philippines. The members of the Philippine cabinet have been working over time of late on account of the existing vacancy. Who will be appointed in Governor Magoon's place will not be determined until after Secretary Taft's arrival in Washington. There are a number of aspirants in the Philippines, but it is expected that some one will be sent from the United States.

The grand jury in session last week made a report to the district court that at many saloons gambling was being conducted in wide open style.

Judge Gillette was quick to act and his orders were explicit. Fifty deputies were sworn into service and the raid was on in earnest. The sheriff dispatched his men to the various places named in the order and had them remain on guard until the large dray wagons could arrive and the furniture be taken to the court house square where it was piled into a heap and was later burned.

FRAULEIN KRUPP RICHEST GIRL WEDS OFFICER

RELIGIOUS CEREMONY HOWEVER WILL NOT BE HELD
TILL MONDAY.

GREAT PRECAUTION IS TAKEN

Krupp Mansion is Guarded as Carefully as Palace of Czar Nicholas in Russia.

Essen, Germany, Oct. 13.—Although the religious ceremony for the marriage of Fraulein Bertha Krupp and Lieutenant Gustav Von Bohlen und Halbach is set to occur Monday, the civil ceremony required by the German law was performed this afternoon. This ceremony is legally binding, so that they have really been married 48 hours before the religious ceremony will be performed.

Essen, Germany, Oct. 13.—Fears that an attempt may be made to assassinate Fraulein Bertha Krupp by anarchistic workmen employed in some of the Krupp enterprises, at her wedding on Monday to Lieut. Gustav Von Bohlen und Halbach, have caused the greatest precautions to be taken to prevent any one gaining admission to the grounds of the young heiress' paternal residence. The Krupp mansion is guarded as carefully as the palace of Czar Nicholas. Guards are everywhere, and the mansion has been transformed into a miniature fortress. Members of the Krupp fire brigade are acting as guards and they really constitute a tried bodyguard.

There is another reason for having these men on the watch and that is to head off beggars.

Hundreds of them are in the neighborhood, but with the strict watch being kept, it is unlikely that any one will succeed in getting close enough to Fraulein Krupp to ask for alms. This wedding will set a record for simplicity. Although Emperor William will be one of the guests, the marriage will be conducted with the simplicity of any shop girls' wedding. The bride's trousseau cost only $250 and other arrangements for the notable event have been made with equal care to avoid any display of extravagance. However, the ceremony will be performed in a chapel erected especially for the purpose on the Krupp estate.

Fraulein Krupp will make a donation of $250,000 to the pension fund of the Krupp works as a wedding gift. She has also arranged for a series of banquets to be given to all of the employees of the Krupp industries and their families. Over 100,000 people will be entertained at these dinners, which will extend over the next fortnight.

Mr. Jones is widely known in Newark and his vindication will be a matter of sincere satisfaction to his many friends here and over the state.

Armstrong, to Miss Ruby Otway, daughter of Lieutenant Colonel and Mrs. Jocelyn Otway, of Park Lane, London. It will be a love match pure and simple. It began at the first meeting of the young couple, who are only twenty-one and nineteen, respectively, and the culmination will probably take place in London in the House of Commons.

Miss Otway is a brunette a little above the medium height and altogether charming. Young Armstrong, who resided some time on a ranch in Texas, is a fine rider. SMALL FEATHER TURBANS MUCH BETRIMMED.

Among the pretty imported novelties for the coming season the small feather turbans stand out most attractively. In form and color there is infinite variety to choose from. Pretty one in white, several shades of blue, from the palest shade of blue, or moonlight blue, down the scale to the rich deep plum blue tones, all of the pinks and rose shadings, some charming yellows, to say nothing of the iridescent greens and browns. The feather toque and turban is sure of a most enthusiastic acceptance. Just whatever that best suits one's hair, eyes and complexion will assuredly be found among the feather chapeaux that Paris has sent out in such quantity.

Which these fascinating little hats may be worn just as one finds them on the counter—plus a lining, of course—still, there is more of an individual air about them when a touch of trimming is added. As in the illustration for example. Here is a pale flamingo toque with wings at either side, shading from a rose to the faintest shell pink, is made to suit the face better by the addition of a huge chon of velvet loops, a tint that serves to enhance the complexion being used. There is a fair sized bandeau in the back, this covered with the feathers, but a ruche of maline with velvet ribbon loops caught in here and there is further supplied in order to give the little hat as much style as possible without at all interfering with its trim and trig lines.

Beautiful Women

Use and Recommended

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

MISS MILDRED HOLLAND, the Charming and deservedly Popular Theatrical Star, writes as follows:

"I am delighted with Newbro's Herpicide. It is just what I have been looking for. I find that it not only prevents dandruff, but that it stops the hair from falling out. It is a most delightful hair dressing, and no lady's toilet is complete without it."

(Signed)

MILDRED HOLLAND.

A woman to be pretty must have pretty hair. There is a subtle charm about beautiful hair that lends more to personal adornment than all of the skill of all of the "beauty doctors" combined. The hair need not be of extraordinary or abnormal length, but it must have that distinctiveness of appearance that comes from intelligent care, and is the result of perfect hair health.

The most cultured ladies in every community use Newbro's Herpicide; and when you see a head of hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life, it is a fairly good indication that Newbro's Herpicide has been used.

A common cause of dullness of the hair is the presence of fine dust and soot in the streets that is kept in constant motion by trolley cars, automobiles, etc. This fine dust—frequently laden with disease germs—adheres to the hair and dulls its natural luster.

A delightful way to cleanse and beautify the hair is to moisten a cloth with Newbro's Herpicide and draw it carefully through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. It may be done daily, or less often, as desired.

The result of this cleansing process will prove a surprise, not only in the amount of dirt removed, but in the added beauty of the hair and the sense of cleanliness and comfort that follows. Shampooing will also remove this dust, but too frequent washing of the hair is harmful.

Newbro's Herpicide is the Original remedy that "kills the dandruff germ." It eradicates dandruff and stops falling hair. It is the only real scalp prophylactic in existence. A delightful and refreshing hair dressing. Stops itching of the scalp almost instantly.

Misses Minnie Sheppard, Bessie Seward, Rosalba Bidwell, Alice McPherson, May Knauber, Daisy Robinson, Della Oakleaf, Messrs. Will Lement, Arthur Wilson, Harry Bradshaw, Chas. Knight, Lew Legge, Charles Lent.

A large and appreciative audience greeted Miss Florence King on Friday afternoon at her twilight recital in the Second Presbyterian church. Miss King has been a conscientious student of the organ for a number of years and her work in the Second Presbyterian church has gained her an enviable reputation which was amply sustained by her recital yesterday. The program was sufficiently varied to suit the taste of her hearers and ranged from the sentimental to the contrapuntal. "The Prelude and Fugue by Hesse" was perhaps the best illustration of the possibilities of the organ, as well as the performer's powers of execution and its rendition was highly satisfactory.

Married Women

Every woman covets a shapely, pretty figure, and many of them deplore the loss of their girlish forms after marriage. The bearing of children is often destructive to the mother's shapeliness. All of this can be avoided, however, by the use of Mother's Friend before baby comes, as this great liniment always prepares the body for the strain upon it, and preserves the symmetry of her form. Mother's Friend overcomes all the danger of child-birth, and carries the expectant mother safely through this critical period without pain. It is woman's greatest blessing. Thousands gratefully tell of the benefit and relief derived from the use of this wonderful remedy. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Our little book, telling all about this liniment, will be sent free.

The French people, who used to be consumers chiefly of light wine, are turning more and more to stronger beverages. With the exception of Belgium, France is the only European country where the consumption of alcohol continues to increase.

By a police order now in operation in Paris laundries must disinfect all garments as soon as they are received. Clothes must be conveyed to the laundries in hermetically sealed bags and on their arrival be scalded in an anti-septic solution. The work people are to wear special clothes, which also are to be disinfected.

"The Republicans failing to nominate a candidate known to stand for high moral ideas, can expect little else than defeat at the polls this fall. The promise to secure appropriations for a few public buildings will not bolster up the intemperance and immorality of any candidate."—Wooster Herald.

That Temperance Issue Again.

Again the American Tribune assails Mr. Ashbrook charging him with not giving support in the Legislature to the Briggs bill permitting women to vote on local option. And again the Advocate calls on the American Tribune to state on what occasion that paper ever had a word to say in favor of the Briggs bill, pending the late session of the Legislature, or any other temperance measure it has been criticizing Mr. Ashbrook for not supporting. What did the A.-T. say urging the passage of the Briggs bill and when did it say it? Will the A.-T. square itself with the public and give the date of a single utterance in its columns in behalf of this measure?

The A.-T. should understand that when it assails Mr. Ashbrook for not supporting the Briggs bill, the public knows that the paper is condemning itself.

And now can the A.-T. name a single prominent temperance woman in his own county of Wayne, who knows Martin Luther Smyser personally or by reputation, who would appeal to him to support that or any other temperance measure?

It is noted that what foreign speakers have come into Ohio for the Republicans are careful not to mention either of the Senators. They seem to know something of the extent of the revolt among the rank and file of the party against the boss machine rule.

The government has a new fraud to investigate and another set of criminals to ferret out and punish. There is evidence that rejected steel tubes have been repaired, patched up, so to speak, and sold to the government for tubes for the boilers on some of the best war vessels. The attorneys for the government are taking the matter up and some real sensations may be

SOME HOT SHOT POURED OUT BY A FRIEND OF THE POLICE FORCE

Incidentally an Assault Upon Captain Bell and Trail of Blood-hounds After Wertz Murder are Recalled—Pointed Communication Concerning Sheriff Redman's Administration.

The American Tribune in its desperation over the sure defeat of the whole Republican ticket, including its candidate for sheriff, "a good fellow," goes out of its way to attack the Newark police, thinking to draw the attention of the tax-payers from the inefficiency and negligence in the sheriff's office, saying in Friday night's issue of the American Tribune:

"The methods of railroads in handling the thief problem and their superior way contrasts strangely with the system in vogue in cities. * * * The man had hardly reported his loss until B. & O. officers had made an arrest. It is too early to say as to the guilt of the accused, but the speed in ferreting it out is worthy of note. "It contrasts strangely with the general hypothesis which settled over our magnificent city police force after the recent jail delivery. In cities, outside of Newark, it is already said that a policeman does not expect to do anything but draw his salary unless he acts under the stimulus of a tip."

Now, I do not desire to appear as the champion and defender of the Newark police force, for I know that every man Jack of them, from Chief Sheridan and Captain Bell to the patrolman appointed by His Honor, Mayor McCleery, is fully able to show by his record, in protecting the lives and property of the citizens, that the contemptible insinuation in the last two lines of that American Tribune article is a FALSE AND MALICIOUS LIBEL.

The only defense any of them needs is to be on his guard when he meets a notorious gambler, that he be not brutally assaulted, as was Capt. Bell. Because of His Honor, the Mayor, as he very properly did in that case, sentences the assailant to serve thirty days in the county jail, if he is a friend of the sheriff, will be received as his guest, allowed to spend his days sitting in the office of the jail, smoking expected, but the whole affair is being kept as quiet as possible till after the election.

Why Did Smyser Do It?

(Wayne Co. Democrat)

In the Roosevelt landslide a considerable number of Democrats in Wayne county voted for Mr. Smyser for Congress when he was first a candidate. How has he rewarded those Democrats for their support? The President of the United States receives a salary of $50,000 per year, and for the four years he is in office draws a total from the government of $200,000. Not satisfied with this Congressman Smyser voted to further increase the expense of the government and indirectly the taxes of the people by increasing the salary of the President by the addition of $25,000 a year for traveling expenses of the President. This action increases the President's compensation $100,000 for the four years' term, thus giving him virtually $300,000 for his term as President of the United States. How do the Democratic farmers and Republican farmers as well in Wayne county like that for a Democratic government's salary for the President?

Opposes Smyser's Bad Record.

(Coshocton Times)

J. A. Robinson, First Vice President of the Ohio Federation of Labor, spent Thursday afternoon and evening in the city and incidentally he visited the fair. While on the grounds he drifted into the eddy of that Republican reception planted in the principal pathway to the gates to make sure people would find it, and he was at once hailed and cordially greeted by Carmi Thompson. After he passed on Mr. Smyser asked Thompson if that was not Robinson, and then said, "I thought so, he is against me."

When told of this Mr. Robinson declared that he did not attempt to meet Smyser, but that it is only his bad record that he is opposing.

Tools Found in His Barn Have Nearly All Been Identified by Their Owners.

David Hukill, the man whose house was searched Thursday afternoon was arrested shortly before noon Saturday by Officers Carroll and Zergel and lodged at the city prison on a charge of larceny. The affidavit upon which Hukill was arrested was sworn to by one of the carpenters who identified a portion of the tools found in a barn in the rear of Hukill's house. Nearly all the tools have been identified and the officers claim to have a good case against Hukill.

Neighbors living in the vicinity of Hukill's home say that the man burned large quantities of stuff at his home Saturday morning. The authorities claim that they had no authority to arrest the man without an affidavit and thus he was allowed his liberty long enough to make away with any goods alleged to have been stolen.

Hukill will be given a hearing on Monday morning.

New Incandescent Lamps.

During the past year the new electric lamps, with filaments of tantalum, osmium or zirconium instead of carbon, have been widely tested with most promising results. Many of these lamps are now in use in Europe. Still it is felt that the best possible results have not yet been obtained, and inventors continue to seek improvements.

In the best of these lamps, says the Revue Generale des Sciences, only a hundredth part of the electric energy expended is utilized in luminous radiation. Inasmuch as the luminous efficiency is rapidly augmented with increase of temperature, almost as the fifth power of the temperature, the latest efforts have been directed to securing the greatest possible elevation of the temperature of the filaments.

A Wonderful Fruit.

A wonderful fruit has been found in the neighborhood of the coast of the Gulf of Guinea, in Africa. It has the power, says a report, to "change the flavor of the most acid substance into a delicious sweetness." An official has found it effective after a dose of quinine and adds that "if a lemon be sucked within two or three hours of eating one of the fruits its acid flavor is entirely counteracted." The fruit resembles a small plum, with the seed invested in a thin, soft pulp, wherein lies the peculiar sweetening property.

DENISON HOPES TO SCORE TODAY

BUT WILL BE SATISFIED IF THEY CAN HOLD DOCTORS TO A FEW POINTS.

Good Crowd of Students Accompany the Denison Eleven to Columbus for Game.

The Denison team left this morning at 8:20 over the Interurban for Columbus where they will play today with Dr. John Eckstorm's Medics. This game is the hardest on the schedule of the Baptist and although Coach Rohrer hopes to score on the M. D.'s he will feel well satisfied if he can keep the score down to a respectable number of points.

The team was accompanied by a goodly number of student rooters and these boys with their pent up enthusiasm expect to make things somewhat lively at Recreation park this afternoon.

The Denison team will be crippled somewhat by the absence of Captain Pamment and Right End Crowl. Both were injured in the Wooster game and have not been able to get out to practice this week. Pamment's injury is in his shoulder while Crowl has a bad ankle.

Two new men, Jewett and Fox were in the squad today and may get their suits soiled before getting back to Granville. Harry Pine, the former Newark High school star, will play quarterback for the Baptists.

Coach Rohrer put his squad of men through some stiff races Friday afternoon and gave final instructions for the Saturday game. The work of the backs in the two games played has been weak and the coach gave special attention to the instruction of these players.

NEWARK HIGH WILL WIN TODAY'S GAME

Kenyon Freshies Will Find Local School a Tough Proposition at Wehrle Park.

New Suits.
Plenty of Confidence.
Lots of Giggles.

The Ability.
The above qualities, all to be found in the local High school team, are the ingredients which will certainly pull a victory from the Kenyon Freshmen in the game this afternoon at Wehrle park. The team has been strengthened since Monday's game, and there is no reason why they should not win from the college men in good style.

In a practice game at Gambier on Thursday night, the Freshmen lined up against the varsity and failed to make the first down in any of their efforts to break through the line of the big team. They scored on the varsity to be sure, but this was on a fumble in which one of the underclassmen got the ball and ran the length of the field for a touchdown.

The local school does not expect a finch at all, but they won't allow their goal line to be crossed.

Chicago Championship Contest is a Neck-and-Neck Race.

Chicago, Oct. 13.—By winning Friday's game the Nationals and Americans stand on equal footing in the championship series.

The Americans made their only real bid for the game when Rohe reached first on Steinfeldt's bad throw and reached third on a sacrifice and an out. Brown, however, struck out Davis. The Nationals earned the run which won the game. Chance sent a fly to short right field and reached third on sacrifices by Steinfeldt and Tinker. Evers placed a pretty single over third base and Chance scored.

In the ninth McFarland batted for Altrock and went out. Hahn flew out.
Then Jones raised the fluttering hopes of his supporters by waiting for four bad ones and going to second when a ball got past Kling and hit the umpire.
Under the rules Jones was entitled to a base. A good hit would have tied the game at this point, and with Isbelt at bat the hopes of the Americans were high. The big second baseman swung viciously at a waist-high ball and landed squarely. It went like a cannon shot right at Brown's face.
Brown had barely time to get his hands on the ball, and the force of the blow laid him flat on his back. For a moment it looked as if he had been dazed by the fall, but he recovered and threw out the runner at first.

This was the last game of the series in which players share the gate money. Total receipts for the four games were $61,855, of which $23,401.70 goes to the players. Of this sum 75 per cent will go to the team winning the series and the remainder to the loser. Score:

DIP OF DEATH AT NINETY MILES AN HOUR.

TAKING THE DIP OF DEATH ON MANHATTAN HILL

Gathering in speed as they shot down the steep Manhattan hill at a terrific clip, the racing cars in the Vanderbilt Cup race encountered no more dangerous point than when they took the curve which leads to Spinnie Hill. It was at this point that Mongial in the elimination race, lost control and was hurled through the air until he struck the telegraph wires overhead after the racer had hit a pole.

At the bottom of the Manhattan road, which has been known as "the Dip of Death," the course takes a serpentine route that ends when the Hempstead turnpike has been reached. The descent from the top of the dip to the bottom covers a distance of about four city blocks and affords the daring drivers of the race a chance to get up a speed which can be attained only on a few portions of the circuit.

will be held and a free-for-all drag chase run. A prize of $3 has been put up for the winning dog and $1.50 for the second dog. Prizes amounting to $36 have been hung up for the winners in the exhibition and the entries have been limited to dogs owned by members of the Central Ohio Sportsmen's association. The exhibition will be held in Clark Bros.' livery barn on West Main street.

The second day of the meet will be devoted entirely to a contest in open field, where a wild fox will be raised.
This contest will be the most popular of the meet and is bound to attract a great number of fox hunters. Mounts for the contest can be secured by writing to the president or secretary at Coshocton, but all persons ordering mounts must take their own saddles.
The committee on arrangements is composed of John E. Alber and district committee is composed of the following members: Coshocton county,

J. L. Moore and Robert Greer; Holmes

Eat Crickets if You Are Too Fat.

We poke fun at the Chinese ideas of medicine, but events in Sacramento prove that the Mongolians know more than we give them credit for. For centuries the Chinese have used cricket stew, powdered crickets, essence of cricket and plain raw crickets for the reduction of obesity, as they use frog soup for stomach troubles. Well, in Sacramento it has been noticed that the cats have grown wonderfully thin and had no appetites, refusing to be tempted by cream or other dainties.
It has been discovered that they have been feasting on crickets. The insects have satisfied their appetites, but have reduced them to skeletons. The next thing to be put on the market will be a new patent medicine under the name of "Cricketine."—San Francisco News

The Annual Lamb Clip.

The "sucker business" in Wall street is estimated to be worth $375,000,000 a year to the brokers and their allies, the bulls. By "sucker business" is meant the amount of money lifted out of the pockets of the people. The brokers are not to blame. People do not have to be begged to speculate.
They are born to gamble. The chief evil of man is to get something for nothing, and that is why millions of our fellow citizens throughout the land tie themselves to one end of a Wall street private wire and squander their earnings tickling that wire. What astounding figures! The total value of wool produced in the United States is about $61,000,000 annually, and the annual lamb clip in Wall street is $375,

CHIROGRAPHY TEST IS APPLIED

IMPORTANT RULING UNDER NEW ELECTION LAW MADE BY SEC'Y. LAYLIN.

Prosecution of Standard Oil at Findlay—A Budget of Buckeye Intelligence.

Columbus, Oct. 12.—Among the political affairs of Ohio within this year of grace, resulting from the double change of administrations, none is more sensational nor more unique than the "Ryan letter" episode in the ouster case begun by Mark Slater, former state supervisor of printing, to dispossess his successor in that office, J. W. Johnson, an appointee of Governor Pattison.

The "Ryan letter," if not an invention, was addressed to the judges of the circuit court sitting in Columbus before whom the ouster case is pending, by some person seeking to influence the decision of the court. It was penned on stationery of the hotel where Mr. Johnson had occasion to write two brief epistles used by a hand-writing expert for comparison. At the time the "Ryan letter" was dated a Ryan was stopping at the hotel, but he resided in another state and the initials were different. The "Ryan letter" was not very long, but it was long enough to bitterly denounce Slater's conduct in office and to intimate pointedly that the court should take no step that might result in his restoration to the office.

A hand-writing expert after examining the letter and two samples of Mr. Johnson's writing, submitted to the court a detailed statement with the conclusion that "the hand which penned the one letter penned all of them."

In his defense Mr. Johnson denounced as absurd the presumption that he had resorted to such a questionable trick. He declared he never saw the letter until it was submitted to him by the court, that he could have no motive to prompt such an act since it would injure him in the estimation of the court to have an anonymous letter traced back to him, and that such conduct was beneath his dignity and self-respect anyway, even if he could have advanced his interest by such means. He also said he was anxious to have the identity of the person who wrote the screed discovered and exposed.

This was followed by the intimation in court by Johnson's attorneys that Slater might have been back of the letter incident, since he was the first to accuse Johnson with the authorship.

It is intimated that since receiving the "Ryan letter" the circuit judges reached an unanimous decision in the ouster case which will be announced Monday, but what the decision will be or whether the letter had any effect in fixing their conclusions are conjectural.

Meanwhile the "Ryan letter" and the documents relating to it will be turned over to the prosecuting attorney of Franklin county for investigation before the grand jury.

The Standard Oil case at Findlay, in which Attorney General Ellis appeared as counsel on behalf of the state to assist prosecuting Attorney David, revives interest in the Valentine-Stewart anti-trust law of Ohio under which the proceedings were begun. The definition of a "trust" set forth in that statute is worthy of renewed perusal because of the "trust busting" in which the state's law department is engaged. It follows:

Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Ohio, that a trust is a combination of capital, skill or acts by two or more persons, firms, partnerships, corporations or associations of persons, or of any two or more of them for either, any or all of the following purposes:

1. To create or carry out restrictions in trade or commerce.
2. To limit or reduce the production, or increase, or reduce the price of merchandise or any commodity.
3. To prevent competition in manufacturing, making, transportation, sale or purchase of merchandise, produce or any commodity.

4. To fix at any standard or figure, whereby its price to the public or consumer shall be in any manner controlled or established, any article or commodity of merchandise, produce or commerce intended for sale, barter, use or consumption in this state.

5. To make or enter into or execute or carry out any contracts, obligations or agreements of any kind or description, by which they shall bind or have bound themselves not to sell, dispose of or transport any article or any commodity or any article of trade, use, merchandise, produce or commerce or consumption below a common standard figure or fixed value, or by which they shall agree in any manner to keep the price of such article, commodity or transportation at a fixed or graduated figure, or by which they shall in any manner establish or settle the price of any article, commodity or transportation between them or themselves and others, so as to directly or indirectly preclude a free and unrestricted competition among themselves, or any purchasers or consumers in the sale or transportation of any such article or commodity, or by which they shall agree to pool combine or directly or indirectly unite any interests that they may have connected with the sale or transportation of any such article or commodity, that its price might in any manner be affected.

Every such trust as is defined herein is declared to be unlawful, against public policy and void.

Attorney General Ellis and his assistants are very much gratified over the result of the bridge trust case at Bellefontaine, where judgment in ouster was rendered by circuit court against the following five bridge companies which confessed judgment and surrendered their charters: Champion of Wilmington, King of Cleveland, Canton of Canton, Massillon of Massillon and Bellefontaine of Bellefontaine. Three trustees were appointed for each, except the latter, under bonds of $25,000 each. The bond for the trustees of the Bellefontaine company was fixed at $50,000 each, pending the completion of the existing contracts held by the company and aggregating $150,000.

Of the 13 companies which retired before the attack of the attorney general and left the state, the most important was the American Bridge Co., the mother company of the trust. This company recently was absorbed by the United States Steel Co. It did not have an Ohio charter. The Adams Co., another member of the pool, quit the bridge business entirely.

Only the Mt. Vernon Bridge Co. of Columbus remains to fight the battle for existence. Its attorney contended in court that the court should not go further than to declare the company should not continue longer in illegal business. He maintained the court should not take the life of the corporation. In reply, Attorney General Ellis argued that this was tantamount to saying that a man convicted of a criminal offense should not be punished, but simply should be enjoined from further offenses.

Secretary of State Laylin, acting as state supervisor of elections, rendered opinion on the election law in response to inquiries from the deputy supervisors of elections. The law provides that in selecting presiding judges at a precinct voting place the deputy supervisors must choose them from the dominant party. In view of the fact that even in Republican precincts Governor Herrick last year the question arose as to what constitutes the dominant party. Mr. Laylin holds that they are not to be governed by the result on the head of the ticket, but it must be determined which is the dominant party by the average vote on all the candidates. It will be noticed that this is a very important question and because of the mixed vote in many precincts close figuring may be required to determine this ruling as to which is the dominant party.

Announcement was made in a former letter of the approaching marriage of Senator Thomas Schmidt and Miss Ami Mueller of Cleveland. The ceremony was performed by Mayor Tom L. Johnson at his home October 10, with the word "obey" eliminated from the troth of the bride.

"It is unfair," said Mayor Johnson, "to ask a woman to promise to obey her husband, and the chances are if she did promise she would not do it. A woman ought not to be forced to begin her married life with a fib on her lips."

Miss Mueller is regarded as one of the most brilliant women in Cleveland. She lived abroad since leaving school. She and the senator were sweethearts almost from the time the girl donned long dresses, but the senator was not able to win her completely until he had gained a name for himself as a lawmaker and leader.

Very seldom does property of much value escheat to the state in Ohio. Most Ohio people who do possess wealth seem to be fortunate enough to leave behind some willing heirs ready to take possession. But General James W. Reilly of Wellsville died without a will and his estate, valued at $150,000, will escheat to the state if no heirs appear to establish titles on which to claim an inheritance. The attorney general had John S. McNitt of Salem appointed receiver in behalf of the state to take charge of $40,000 worth of oil land that he long to the Reilly estate, to collect rents and keep the property in condition.

FIFTY WITNESSES CALLED BY STATE IN OIL PROBING

ADMISSIONS FORCED AT FINDLAY ARE CONSIDERED IMPORT-ANT TO PROSECUTION.

HAND OF THE GRANT TRUST

Evidence Showing That Standard Had Much to Do With the Smaller Companies.

Findlay, Ohio, Oct. 13.—Nearly fifty witnesses have been summoned by the state for the coming week in the Standard Oil probing. The admissions forced by the prosecution yesterday morning, as telegraphed to the Advocate, are considered the most important direct testimony yet offered.

Effort on the part of the prosecution in the attempt to prove a violation of the Valentine anti-trust act by the Standard Oil company was concentrated toward establishing a parental relation between the Standard and the various subsidiary companies operating in Hancock county.

J. H. Scott, purchasing agent for the Tractor purchasing agency, admitted that his purchases were confined almost exclusively to the fields where there was competition; that no oil was purchased from the Ohio company, the largest individual producer in this field, and that oil purchased by him was run through five different pipe lines, all recognized as Standard auxiliaries.

He admitted that these purchases were made largely by telegraphic communications to the different fields, and that while to that end he used the private wires of the Buckeye Pipe line company, he paid that company no tolls for such use. The purchases aggregated from 50,000 to 75,000 barrels a month and were stored for the Tractor agency of the different pipe lines.

M. C. Shafer, deputy oil inspector for this district, testified that all oil handled from the local distributing station of the Standard Oil company was furnished by the Solar Refining company of Lima. Interesting evidence is promised later relative to the plan of furnishing this oil to local retailers.

State Department Receives Dispatch
Telling of Attack of Red Men at Acayucan.

Washington, Oct. 13.—The state department received a dispatch from the United States ambassador at Mexico City reporting that the recent attack by Indians on the town of Acayucan, state of Vera Cruz, Mexico, was in no wise connected with the alleged revolutionary movement incited by the St. Louis revolutionary junta, but was a local outbreak of Indians dissatisfied with the action of the chief authorities of the village near them regarding a dispute over land claimed by the two bands. The ambassador reported that the affair has no political significance and that the disturbances have ceased.

WHAT'S IN A NAME.

Champagne and Neufchatel Cheese
Will Be Just as Good.

Washington, Oct. 13.—Dr. Wiley of the agricultural department, Dr. S. N. K. North of the department of commerce and labor and James L. Gerry of the treasury department, formulated the proposed regulations under which the pure food and drug act is to be administered. They reached a unanimous conclusion recently, after many weeks of investigation, discussion and consideration. As finally agreed upon by the commission, the regulations were in the nature of a compromise on many points.

Under the regulations as they stand it would not be legal, for instance, to label any brand of wine manufactured in this country as champagne, although it might be as pure as any wine ever manufactured. No cheese made in this country could bear the name Neufchatel, although it is claimed by cheese makers that it is a distinctive name of cheese made in many places of the world. Domestic-made champagne would be called American wine, champagne type or champagne blend. The cheese might be called "cheese, Neufchatel style."

The commission submitted the regulations to Secretary Wilson, Shaw and Metcalf, by whom, before they become effective, they must be approved. It is known that some of the regulations do not meet the entire approval of all the secretaries, and it probably will be necessary to modify them before an agreement is reached.

ISLE OF PINES MUST GIVE IN

Taft Tells Chief Agitator That It Is Cuban Territory.

TO BE UNDER MAGOON'S CARE

Cuban Rebels Want to Know What Their Chances at the Pie Counter
Are to Be Under the Provisional Government and Taft Tells Them.
His Valedictory to Cubans.

Havana, Oct. 13.—Secretary Taft received President Stark of the Isle of Pines association and informed him positively that the provisional government could not consider any movement in the direction of the separation of the Isle from Cuban sovereignty. Taft added that the matter of the internal government of the Isle of Pines was referred to Charles E. Magoon, who succeeds Taft as provisional governor of Cuba, accompanied by a formal statement in which Taft declared that it is absolutely impossible for the provisional government of Cuba to recognize for a moment that the Isle of Pines is not completely under the jurisdiction of the provisional government as part of the republic of Cuba, and that while the fact that the majority of the residents of the Isle of Pines are Americans may call for exceptional provisions respecting provincial and municipal government, any of the three bases mentioned in the Isle of Pines association's communication involving the separation of the Isle from Cuba is wholly inadmissible, as it would be a violation of the trust imposed on the provisional government to preserve the interests of Cuba intact during the incumbency of that government. Taft ordered one officer and 25 marines to the Isle of Pines, explaining that he does not anticipate any trouble there, but that the marines are sent to promote a feeling of security.

A committee representing many Americans in Cuba presented Taft and Bacon an address expressing appreciation for the services they rendered residents of the island, saying: "The results you have accomplished are greater than could reasonably have been hoped for."

As a sort of valedictory statement to the Cubans, Secretary Taft told a committee of revolutionists that the United States is not ready to announce when it will withdraw its forces from the island. The committee had a conference lasting an hour with Secretary Taft, Assistant Secretary of State Bacon and Charles E. Magoon, who is to succeed Taft as provisional governor, and at its conclusion expressed satisfaction with the position taken by the provisional government.

Headed by Alfredo Zayas, the committee visited Secretary Taft for the avowed purpose of requesting him to declare the policy of the United States toward Cuba and the policy of the provisional government concerning appointments to public offices. Secretary Taft replied pointedly that he could not outline the policy of the United States more clearly than was done in his proclamation establishing a provisional government for the island. He added that as the representative of the United States he was just as anxious to surrender governmental affairs to the Cubans as the Cubans are to regain them, but that the peace commissioners were under the responsibility to build up conditions which would make the Cuban government stable. Taft would not predict when such a condition would be reached, but he said the Cubans themselves could hasten that time if they were disposed to do so. A fair and honest election on the result of which the Cuban people were willing to abide, Taft declared, is necessary before the United States would feel justified in withdrawing from the island.

Senor Zayas, Carlos Garcia and Jose Miguel Gomez asserted that it was not their personal ambition to obtain public office. They declared, however, that the interests of their party demanded that the government should not be continued in the form against which they revolted. Assurances were given the committee by Taft that Magoon will consider complaints against any official, investigate them and remove persons found unfit to hold positions of responsibility or trust, but that capable men with good records will be retained.

The news of the change leaked out and as a result the stock of the Ontario bank went down from 132½ to 124½ on the local exchange, with no bids.

Stricken From Ballot.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 13.—The supreme court ordered the name of John W. Johnson of Minneapolis, Socialist Labor candidate for governor, stricken from the official ballot. John A. Johnson, the present governor, is a candidate for re-election on the Democratic ticket. As soon as John W. Johnson's name was filed the Democratic state central committee claimed the nomination of John W. was irregular, as many names on the petition were those who voted at the primaries.

Moran Accepts Nomination.

Boston, Oct. 13.—John D. Moran formally announced his acceptance of the nomination for governor rendered him by the Democratic state convention. For several days there was considerable doubt whether Moran would remain in the field. He has not accepted the resolution endorsing William J. Bryan for the presidency which was adopted by the Democratic state convention. He says that "Bryanism and Hearstism" must be eliminated from the contest.

GOV. HARRIS

To Make Official Visits to State Institutions—Charges Against Jones Prompted by Malice.

Columbus, O., Oct. 13.—As wired the Advocate yesterday afternoon, the special committee appointed by the State Board of Charities to investigate the charges made by James B.

Charles E. Magoon.

Former Governor of the Panama Canal zone who succeeds Secretary Taft as provisional governor of Cuba. Governor Magoon met the heads of departments Friday at Havana and will pursue the policy blazed by Secretary Taft.

Tellow, a discharged employee, against Supt. Jones of the Deaf and Dumb institution, completely exonerated Mr. Jones. The committee consisted of H. H. McFadden and R. H. Platt.

J. H. Jones, the superintendent of the institution, took the witness stand in his own behalf to answer charges of immorality and mismanagement preferred against him by Tellow. He entered specific and emphatic denials to each and every charge of any importance whatever, and declared that his whole time and attention were given to looking after the best interests of the institution and the personal welfare of the 500 pupils.

Governor Harris will make official visits to the state institutions for the purpose of examination. He said: "I will not herald by coming, but just drop in so as to catch them when they are not prepared for inspection. I do not care to have the dining room specially trimmed for my coming nor do I want a band of music on hand." Speaking of the competitive bid system of purchasing for the state institutions which he is enforcing he said that he was informed by F. O. Rochester, the inspector, that it is working well, and he felt sure that it will save money for the state. "But," he added, "it will be worth all the trouble it makes if it only removes the suspicion of favoritism. If I were an institution steward I would want to make my purchases if only to free myself of suspicion. The general government uses the system with great success. I can not see why the state can not."

SWIMMING PARTY IS TO PRECEDE THIS WEDDING

UNIQUE EVENT TO BE COPIED
AFTER CIVILIZATION OF ANCIENT GREECE.

GUESTS TO TAKE A PLUNGE

Then Party Will Proceed to Columbus Club in Autos for Dutch Lunch, Oct. 30.

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 13.—Fashionable Newport usually holds the center of the stage in the United States for unique entertainments, but Newport itself will be "backed off the boards" and "sit up and take notice" when it hears of a novelty which will be participated in this month by Columbus society in connection with the wedding at St. Paul's Episcopal church October 30, of Robert Lindenberg to Grace Adele Woodworth, a charming young Columbus woman.

The novelty connected with the wedding is nothing more nor less than that of preceding it with a swimming party October 17. Such events were common among the elite of the refined civilization of ancient Greece before the Christian era, and the Grecians had obtained it from their more luxurious neighbors farther east; and now several thousand years later, the younger civilization of the West will borrow from the Orient this idea, though with the more modern—and the most highly perfect of all aesthetic and luxurious methods of performing ablutions—the swimming pool.

Those of the guests who will make up the wedding party proper are all invited to participate in the swim, and in addition a few of the younger society people of Columbus. A Turkish bath house has been chartered for the evening, October 17. The guests will assemble there at 8 o'clock that evening. Three hours will be taken for the perfect enjoyment of the plunge, then at 11 o'clock the party will take waiting automobiles in front of the bath house and go to the Columbus club for a Dutch lunch.

The chaperons will be Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Lindenberg parents of the groom and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Woodworth, parents of the bride.

The invitations to this novel affair have been sent to Miss Katherine Jenks of Newport, R. I.; Miss Corinne Richter, Miss Mabel Sayles of Albany, N. Y.; and Miss Edith Jamps of Springfield, Mass., all maidens of honor at the wedding; Leo Lindenberg, the groomsmen; William Zinn, Kenneth Curtis, Bert Holliday, Jack Jeffrey, Ashers; Miss Grace Fuller of Albany, N. Y.; Misses Mildred Alberty, Amy Dodson, Martha Dunn, Helen Baldwin, Fanny Fullerton and Mrs. Carl Agler; Harold Toland, Stewart Riley, Ralph May, Bert Miller, Carl Agler and Fannie Brown.

DUN'S REVIEW

Low Temperature Has Brought Out
Much Business in Seasonable Lines of Apparel.

New York, Oct. 13.—R. G. Dun's weekly review of trade says low temperature brought out much business in seasonable lines of wearing apparel, and most reports from wholesalers tell of the largest volume of trade ever transacted. Shipping departments are limited in activity by inadequate railway facilities, and this difficulty is becoming aggravated by the free movement of grain and coal as the season advances. Official reports covering conditions to Oct. 1 indicated most satisfactory gain prospects, but damage has since reduced the yield of cotton and caused a violent rise in prices. To this fact is due some irregularity in trade and collections at a few southern cities, but most centers report expanding business.

SEEKING SILVEIRA.

Fugitive Cuban Banker Is Not Yet
Located by the Sleuths.

New York, Oct. 13.—William N. Cromwell of counsel for Ceballos & Company, the investment firm which made an assignment because of the delinquencies of this firm's Havana agent, Manuel Silveira, stated that while advice from a day indicate that Silveira had not yet landed at any port in the United States or South America. Cromwell declared further that Ceballos & Company, representing three-fourths of the liabilities of Silveira & Company of Havana, had entire confidence in the special partner, Jose Boda, now in charge of their business at Havana. Up to this time Cromwell deemed it best to keep Silveira & Company afloat, but the policy regarding the future of that firm will depend on examinations under way by agents in Havana.

Foreigners Interested.

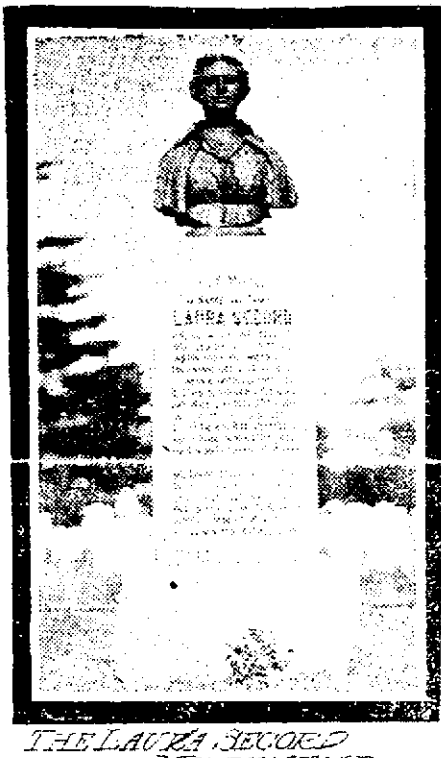

Washington, Oct. 13.—Two men from foreign governments displayed an interest in the proposed contract for completing the isthmian canal. Representatives of the French embassy and the Swiss legation called at the office of the isthmian canal commission and obtained copies of the contract and other information of interest to prospective contractors. Hundreds of inquiries from Americans interested in the contract have reached the commission, and information is being supplied to construction firms throughout the east.

Historic Niagara Frontier

BY SAMUEL W. HIPPLER

THE LAURA SECORD MONUMENT

GHOSTS there be-ghosts of past achievements—who steal from the shadowy depths of nowhere, and, in serried ranks, pass for silent review along the paths of memory. Their laughter rings no cheering melody, their drumbeats give no sound, their voices have no tones and their footsteps fall with noiseless tread on the misty roads of an imagination that grows with age.

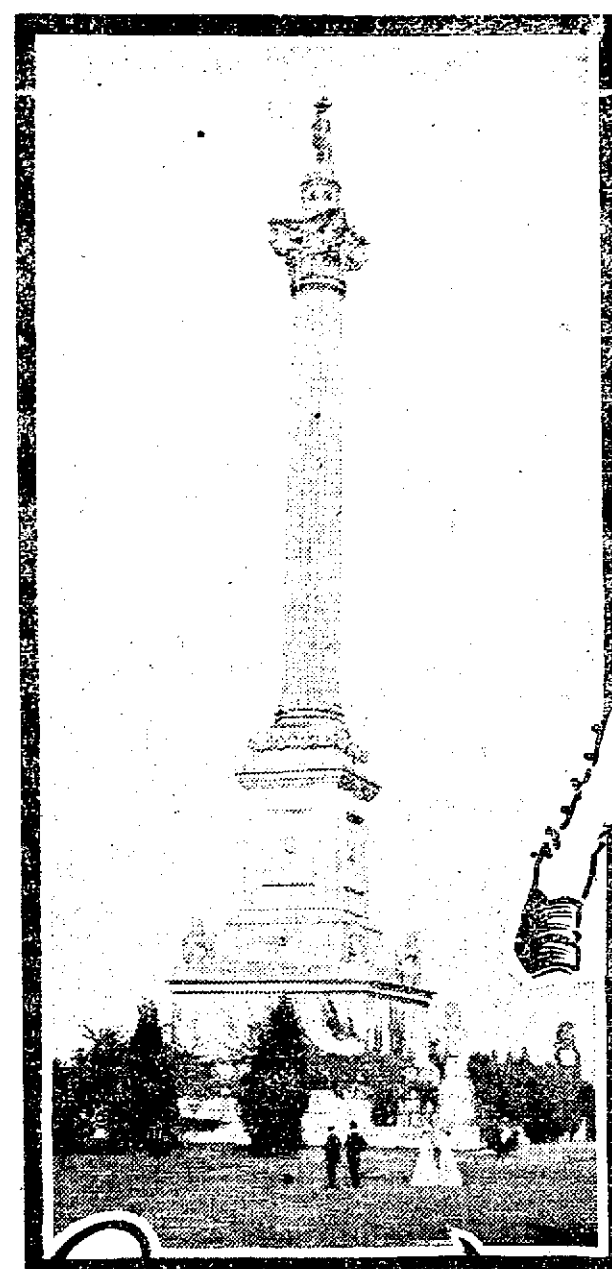

The old constable at Fort Erie, dozing in the sunrises of a warm October day, shifted uneasily as the stars on the history bench made ridges in his back, and, with eyes still closed, gently murmured, "Ten rods more and all is safe."

The ghosts were walking for him. He is himself an old soldier—a soldier of the crown, with flowing galloons of a vintage long antedated and a memory that serves him well. Clothed in the uniform of the Canadian militia—black, with natty red trimmings—he keeps his daily vigil on the site of old Fort Erie and passes his days in peaceful janitorship of the bloody plot. The site of Old Fort Erie—the scene of many a sanguinary conflict—has been inclosed and made a part of the Canadian National Park system. It is opposite Buffalo, on the Canadian side, at the head of Niagara River, and stands as a grim specter of the British barracks that guarded the river in the days when there was enmity between America and Great Britain. On the American side of the river is the site of old Fort Porter, now a beautiful barracks where soldiers are sent to rest up after hard service, and 35 miles away, at the mouth of the river, glaring across at each other (in peaceful rivalry now) are Forts George and Niagara, the former in Canada and the latter in the United States. When the day is clear and the glasses are good all this long frontier stretch between may be seen by tourists from the top of Brock's Monument, marking the site of the battle of Queenston Heights. But the old constable at Fort Erie needs no wearisome climb to view the panorama. The historic ground of the Niagara frontier is familiar to him. Slumber does for him what travel does for others. The noontide does not only paint in realistic colors the landscape of the historic Niagara frontier, but summons by companies, by brigades, by armies and perhaps sometimes alone and unattended the almost forgotten heroes of a bygone day. As he shifts his position and murmurs "Ten rods more and all is safe," who can tell what he is seeing.

The ghosts are walking for him. Perhaps they come in overwhelming numbers, those stout-hearted, red-coated soldiers, driving the colonists before them and cheering for King George and the dragon. Perhaps it is a mighty race to see whether the small, detached body of redcoats out on a foraging expedition shall reach the fort before the body of American patriots shall succeed in cutting them off. Perhaps the ghosts are those of the War of 1812, and the sleeping constable sees the rout that attended the British in the first attack on Buffalo, July 11, 1813. Perhaps his slumber is lighted by the blaze of the burning of Buffalo when the village was destroyed by redcoats and Indians in a later and successful attack on December 13 and 14 of the same year, when but one residence was left in the ruins. Perhaps the scene stands out in strong contrast to any of these. Mayhap it is a bright June day, with flower-scented air and balmy breezes. There is no sign of war, and all is still except for the flying footsteps and the heavy breathing of the solitary figure in the constable's dream—a young girl with wavy hair and burning cheeks, whose journey is beset with many difficulties. Now she is flying along a secluded roadway, now climbing a prickly hedge, anon struggling through swamp and morass, proceeding with undaunted determination towards her destination, passing along by circuitous routes, avoiding here a figure that carries a gun and looks like a soldier without uniform and now hiding until some suspicious traveler has passed. And then all is changed. Wet and dirty, with the muck of lowlands and barnyards clinging to her skirts, she dashes into a British camp. There is the call to arms, the quick and silent preparation, the forced march, the terrible battle, and again—a balmy June day.

This sweet girl of the old redcoat's dream—this Canadian Joan of Arc—was named Laura Secord. A monument has been erected to her memory in the old graveyard near the battlefield of Lundy's Lane, on the Canadian side of the Niagara frontier. Not satisfied with perpetuating her bravery, the people of her race, with characteristic British bombast and vanity, have included in the tribute to her memory a touching advertisement of how a mere handful of British defeated an American army. Says the inscription on the Secord monument:

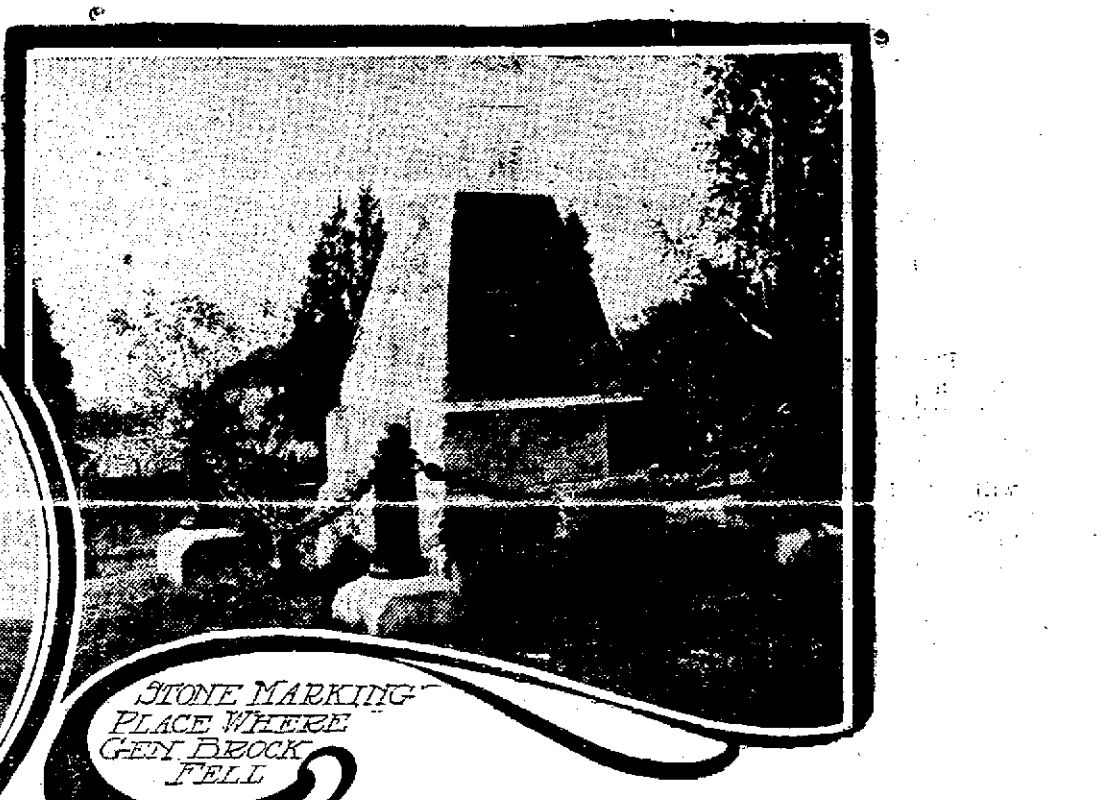

"To perpetuate the name and fame of Laura Secord, who walked alone nearly 20 miles by a circuitous, difficult and perilous route, through woods and swamps and mucky roads, to warn a British outpost at De Cew's Falls of an intended attack, and thereby enabled Lieutenant Fitz Gibbon, on the 24th of June, 1812, with less than 50 men of Her Majesty's Forty-ninth Regiment, about 15 militiamen and a small force of Six Nations and other Indians, under Capt. William Johnson Kerr and Dominique Ducharme, to surprise and attack the enemy at Beechwoods (or Beaver Dam), and after a short engagement captured Colonel Hoorster, of the U. S. Army, and his entire force of 542 men, with two fieldpieces."

As our little party of tourists approached Fort Erie's sleeping caretaker waked with a start and asked: "What was that noise? Did I hear anybody shoot?" And then a smile rippled among the wrinkles on his seared old countenance. "I remember now; I was dreaming. I was dreaming of the battle of Lake Erie, when your Commodore Perry—you are from across the border, aren't you. Yes, I knew it. There are no other girls as pretty as American girls—but as I was saying, I was dreaming of the battle of Lake Erie, when your Commodore, with boats that he had made himself, captured and destroyed our fleet. It was on September 10, 1813, and a relative of mine—long since dead—served one of the guns on a British ship that went down. He often told me of that battle, and in my dreams I saw him training his gun and lighting his fuse for one last shot before the water should run into the nozzle of the gun on the badly crippled ship. Just as he fired I woke up, and I thought that the noise of the shot had awakened me. But the battle was fought too long ago and the scene of the engagement was too far away for me to have heard the shot. It must have been something else. I am an old man now and things are not always clear to me. This, ladies and gentlemen, is old Fort Erie. Here we see remains of the old British storehouse or bullet-proof retreat, and there are the earthen breastworks thrown up at angles that enabled the defenders to meet the attacking force with a terrible fire. Here on the other side you see—"

And so he wandered on through the intricate mazes of a lecture long ago learned by heart, while we sometimes listened and sometimes lost ourselves in pleasing conjecture as to what the place might have looked like in the days that he told about—in the days when frontier fights, revolutions, international squabbles of all kinds and numerous bands of treacherous Indians made the tenure of life all too uncertain.

To properly inspect all the points of interest—all the battlefields, scenes of ambush and terrible slaughter along the banks of Niagara River on both sides should take about a week. The Niagara frontier fairly bristles with historic interest. From the days of the great explorer, La Salle, and the time of Father Hennepin—the first white man to see the falls of Niagara, down on through the years that witnessed the war of 1812 and the burning of Buffalo—the shores of the river have continually been trodden by the makers of nations. Blood letting there was, too, and here the British and French have clashed, redman has fought and scalped his white brother and Americans engaged in revolution have grappled in deadly conflict men of their own flesh and blood. Soldiers of the mother country have engaged the Indians to sweep down upon the settlers along the shores of Niagara River and raise no hand to stop the savage cruelties against whom blood was as red, if the coats were not as scarlet, as the little lugs in the pay of King George of England. Through years of peace we come to the time when the eagles of war again dropped their wings, and countless slaves escaping from the South during the Civil War, were rowed across Niagara River by abolitionists to freedom in Canada. And then when war was declared with Spain during the administration of McKinley, and the Spanish Ambassadors, de Louise, was given a polite intimation that his room was more desirable than his company, he made for Niagara and, crossing to Niagara Falls, Canada, attracted the eyes of the diplomatic world in that direction, while the State Department at Washington was demanding of the British government that he be dislodged from his point of vantage. Again, in the city of Buffalo, on the shores of the mighty river, enterprising citizens reared in the year 1901 the beautiful Pan-American Exposition, where in the month of September President McKinley met death by assassination.

Niagara River is virtually a strait, separating the United States from Canada, and connecting Lake Erie with Lake Ontario. It is about a mile wide and 35 miles long. Its entire length is dotted with islands, which aggregate in all 24,000 acres. One of these—called Goat Island—is right at the brink of Niagara Falls, and separates the river into two channels, each one falling over a precipice 160 feet high. Early explorers from the east along the St. Lawrence River to Lake Ontario, in ceaseless efforts to discover the Western country, and then along the shores of Niagara River to Lake Erie and further west. Thus Niagara River early became the scene of battles between the whites and Indians, and being regarded as the water highway of the West was the scene of a continual contest between the French and English for control. The French in the early stages were the most enterprising, and history shows that as early as 1657 a French officer, De Nonville, threw up earthworks on the site of what is now Fort Niagara, on the American side of the river—right at its mouth, in fact. This barricade was held and lost with varying fortunes until 1725, when the French, after a tricky deal with the Indians, secured their consent to erect a stone fortress on the site. This was the foundation of the permanent fort there. It was captured by the British in 1759 and was used by the English as a base for the maintenance of an open road of trade from the interior to the settled portion of the land near the coast. The fort played an important part in the Revolutionary War and was used as the headquarters from which the bands of Indians that ravaged the colonies during that awful period were sent out. After the War of 1776 it came into American possession.

This story—perhaps article would be a better word—does not pretend to be a complete history of the Niagara frontier. It is rather the faithful chronicle of what a party of tourists saw traveling up one side of the Niagara River and down the other—a trip of about 10 miles. There are many points along the trip equally as important as that of Fort Niagara. The march of progress—the advance of civilization—has wiped out many of the spots stamped with the mark of history, and it has remained for a most worthy organization—the Niagara Frontier Landmarks Association—to rescue them from the spoiling hand of commerce and mark them with appropriate tablets. Some idea of the high standing of this organization can be gained from the fact that it was organized and includes in its membership representatives from the following thirty American institutions: The Sons of the American Revolution, the Sons of the Revolution, the Buffalo Historical Society, the Society of the War of 1812, the Society of Colonial Wars, the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Children of the American Revolution and the Niagara Frontier Historical Society.

Mr. Truman G. Avery is the president of the Niagara Frontier Landmarks Association and Mr. George D. Emerson the secretary. It was Mr. Emerson who kindly made out the itinerary for our party of tourists and thus guided them through one of the most historic territories on the continent today. The society in question has only been in existence from November of 1900, but since that time its members have located and appropriately marked several sites noted for events that had an important bearing on the history or development of the nation.

Fort Schlosser, on the banks of Niagara River, a little to the south of the present town of Niagara Falls. Both forts were in the chain of posts used to keep open the line of trade along the river. Only three men out of one hundred escaped. A little further north the same Indians ambushed a British relieving force, which hurried after them on news of the massacre reaching Lewiston. Only eight escaped from the second slaughter. The Devils Hole is a natural sort of tunnel through the great rocks, for which Niagara Gorge is noted, and a spot most admirably suited for an ambush. It is a sort of a gulch, and through it a little stream finds its way to Niagara River. The little stream ran blood red on the day of the massacre, and has ever since borne the title of Bloody Run. The ambush occurred on the 14th of September, 1783.

From Lewiston we hurried to Fort Niagara, which Mr. Emerson told us was the most historic point in the whole Niagara frontier. On the road between Lewiston and Youngstown, the town nearest to the fort, we passed a place known as Five-mile Meadows, where, on the night of December 18, 1813, the British landed for their attack on Fort Niagara. History tells us that they won, and then proceeded at their leisure to devastate the whole frontier, their operations including the burning of Buffalo. Earlier in my article I have referred to the establishment of Fort Niagara. From this place the French and English held sway over a vast empire from Albany westward, first one and then the other being in control. In 1796 it became an American stronghold. One of the principal features of Fort Niagara is the magazine built in 1754. It came into the public eye in 1836 by reason of the incarceration there of William Morgan, who conducted an anti-Masonic crusade. He disappeared from the dungeon—nobody knows how—and was never seen again. There was dispute as to whether he had been spirited away by Masons and killed, or had been allowed to escape. Still standing on the grounds of Fort Niagara—now an important United States Army barracks—are two old blockhouses, built in 1771 and 1773. They, it will be thus seen, antedate the revolution, and are pronounced by experts to be the most perfect specimens of their kind of architecture on the continent today. Opposite Fort Niagara is Fort George, built originally as an auxiliary to Fort Niagara at a time when all that territory was British. Farther up the river, about opposite Lewiston, we came to the site of the battle of Queenston Heights.

In the Canadian town of Niagara are many points of interest. Among the old buildings are Navy Hall (built in 1759), where was held the first session of the Parliament of Upper Canada, and the old barracks used by Butler's Rangers during the Revolutionary War as a base for their raids into American territory when they, with the aid of Indians, made the lives of frontier residents for miles around a constant source of worryment. We also find Fort Mississauga, built by the British in 1814.

Coming along the river from Brock's monument south—or, to be more strictly speaking, up stream, we having gone down stream on the American side—we come to the battlefield of Lundy's Lane, which is marked by a monument, a picture of which appears on this page.

This monument was erected in 1855, and commemorates simply the "Victory of the British-Canadian forces on the 25th day of July, 1814," and is in "Grateful remembrance of the brave men who died on that day fighting for the unity of the empire." The monument was erected by the Canadian Parliament. Passing up the river still, we come to the site of Fort Chippewa, built in 1760, and the battlefield of Chippewa.

Then on to old Fort Erie. Here we disturbed the slumbers of the old British soldier and listened to an interesting description of the historic site. Fort Erie was built by Montross in 1784, built again in 1778, rebuilt in 1780, again in 1791, and a fourth time in 1807, though none of the latter times on the exact former location. Near the fort are the sites of three British siege works, a line of earthworks, protected by abatis, extending inland for nearly half a mile, and still further strengthened by blockhouses of the 1812 period.

Nearby is the scene of the famous battle of Ridgway, the really closing incident of the ridiculous Fenian raid, when a handful of ill-advised fanatics, after gathering on an island in Niagara River, landed on Canadian soil, prepared to take the country as a protest to Great Britain for the way in which the empire treated Ireland. The engagement soon became a disgraceful rout. This was in 1896.

A short distance away Niagara River broadens out, and the widening of the stream's expanse into the bosom of Lake Erie marks the termination of the historic Niagara frontier and the end of our story.

INDEPENDENT 'PHONE GROWTH

Local Company Has Installed 200 New Subscribers Since August--New Cable Installed to Permit Further Extensions of the Big Plant.

The Newark Telephone Company has just completed its large extensions in the west, north and a part of the south ends of Newark including Franklin's addition, and it is now ready to take on new subscribers in the territory covered.

The north end is now in the course of construction, and next week will see all the new cable in this part of town thrown on for the large influx of new business, a large part of which has already been obtained. Any one in any part of these sections will now be able to have a phone put in on short notice, and all that is necessary to do is to tell your neighbor to have us send our agent to see you.

The management also wishes to announce that it has come to their notice that certain agents for the Bell Telephone company have been making false statements as to the condition of affairs in which the Newark Telephone company's lines are in certain sections of the city. These agents have told a number of people that the Newark Telephone company would not be able to put a telephone in this winter in these sections of the city, as their cable was filled up. Since April the Home company has been working to relieve the congested condition, and before the first of the year all points in the city will be easily accessible. These agents have also told the public that they were signing a contract for the "New Phone," and have contracted with them for the Bell or Central Union, not finding out their error until it was too late to retract, or they thought so. All persons signing contracts for telephones should investigate carefully and be sure they are negotiating for the service they want.

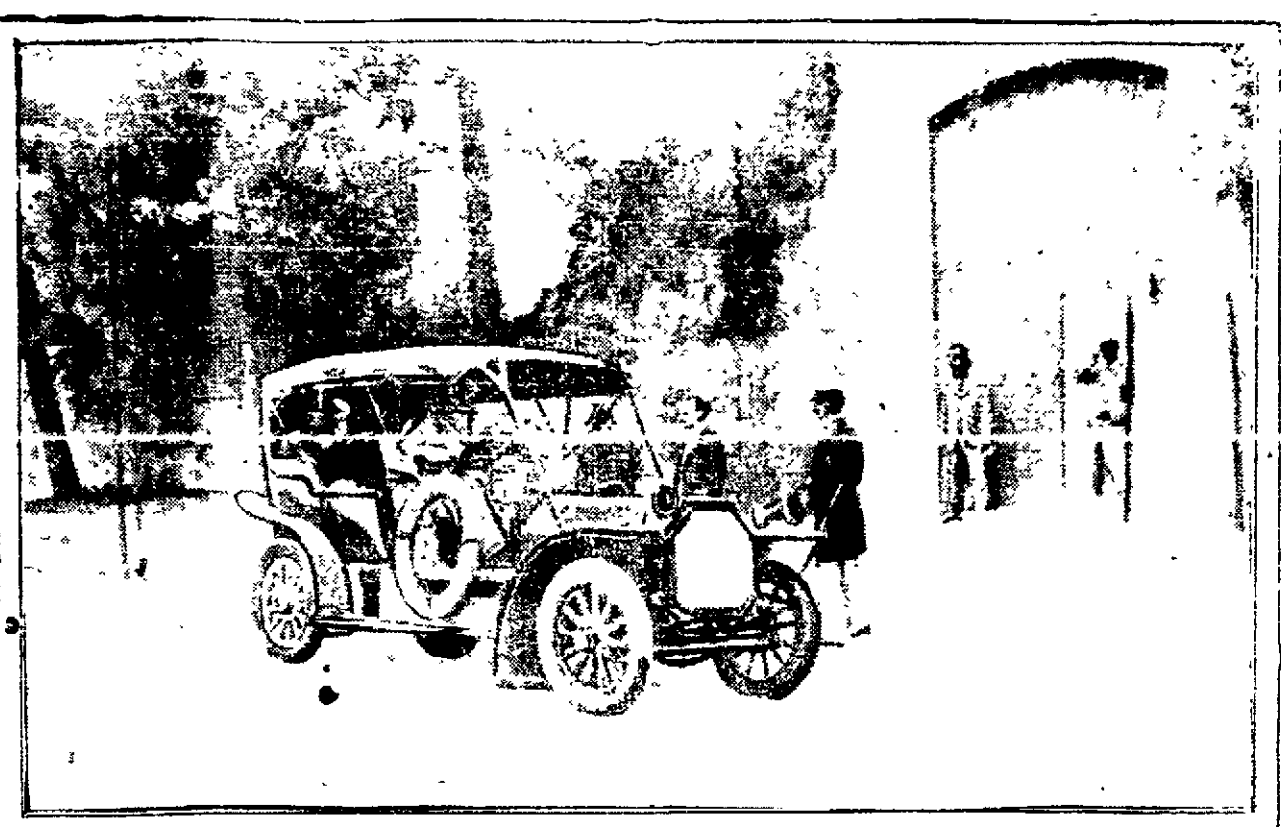

Below is a list of new telephones which have been put in since the last directory was published in August, and the changes in numbers, addresses, etc., since that time. A gain of 200 in six weeks is remarkable when the size of this large exchange is taken into consideration. Subscribers are requested to attach this list to their directory.

Woman Burned by Acid.
Kent, O., Oct. 12.—Acid was thrown on Mrs. Lutz, 21, wife of Arthur Lutz, a slate roofer, while she was asleep. Her face and scalp were badly burned and some of her hair burned off. The young couple say they do not know who threw the acid or why it was thrown. The husband says he has his suspicions but will not tell them. CHARLES E. HUGHES ADDRESSING YOUNG MEN ON LIFE'S PROBLEMS

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Let us come into contact with life freely, and let it be the contact of manhood. Thus did Charles E. Hughes sum up his plea to more than 3,000 young men to widen and extend the scope of their ideas, to look at success as something more than the massing of a great fortune, and to avoid cynicism and retain a strong faith in their fellow men, in Carnegie Hall Sunday. If any went with the idea that the appearance of the Republican nominee for governor and his remarks were to have a bearing upon the campaign, they were disappointed, as Mr. Hughes, before beginning his address pointed out that his appearance had no reference to the campaign.

DAIRY WAGON HIT BY INTERURBAN

JOHN SUNKEL HAD MIRACULOUS ESCAPE IN ZANESVILLE ON FRIDAY EVENING.

Zanesville, Oct. 11.—John Sunkel, who resides on the West pike and drives a dairy wagon to the city, had a miraculous escape from death at the State street crossing of the interurban line in the western part of the city Friday afternoon. As Sunkel was passing over the crossing on his way home from the city at 4:45 o'clock, an interurban car from Newark struck the wagon. The vehicle, which was one of the regulation dairy cars, enclosed with glass panels at front and sides, was thrown from the tracks and reduced to a total wreck. The occupant of the wagon was lucky enough to escape with but a few slight cuts in the head and legs, from the broken glass.

The two hind wheels were found 25 feet from the scene of the accident and parts of the wagon bed were found 100 feet away.

The two horses which were hitched to the wagon ran about 100 yards with nothing but the tongue of the wagon and harness attached to them and were caught on West Main street.

The car was stopped and when the conductor and some of the passengers reached Sunkel, they were surprised to find him only slightly injured. He went over the team of horses and continued on his way home.

SALIENT FEATURES OF NEW JUVENILE COURT IN NEWARK

The Legislature last winter passed an act amending a previous act passed April 24, 1904, by which it established a Juvenile court in every county in the state in the person of the Probate judge of each county. The act is intended not only to punish crime among juveniles but to prevent it, and to reform juveniles who have fallen into criminal ways. The salient features of the law are briefly as follows:

The act applies to children 17 years of age or under, not the inmates of state institutions or any institution incorporated under the laws of the state for the care of delinquent children. When any child under the provisions of this act comes into the custody of the Juvenile court it becomes the ward of the court, until, if a boy, he attains the age of 21 years, or a girl the age of 18 years.

The words "Delinquent Child" shall include any child 17 years of age or under, who violates any law of the state, or any city or village ordinance, or who is incorrigible, or who knowingly associates with thieves, vicious or immoral persons; or who is growing up in idleness and crime; or who knowingly visits or enters a house of ill repute; or who knowingly patronizes or visits any gambling place, or shall be operated; or who patronizes or visits any saloon or dram shop where any intoxicating liquors are sold; or who wanders about the streets in the night time; or who wanders about any railroad yards or tracks; or jumps or hooks on any moving train or vehicle; or enters any car or engine without lawful authority, or who uses vile, obscene, vulgar or indecent language, or is guilty of immoral conduct.

The words "dependent child," or "neglected child" shall mean any child under 17 years of age who is dependent upon the public for support, or who is destitute, homeless or abandoned; who has not proper parental care and guardianship, or who begs or receives alms; or who is found living in any house of ill fame; or with any vicious or disreputable persons, or whose home by reason of neglect, cruelty or depravity on the part of its parents, guardian or other person, in whose care it may be is an unfit place for such child; or whose environment is such as to warrant the state in the interest of the child in assuming its guardianship.

Any child within the provisions of this act whose parents or guardian permits it to use or become addicted to the use of tobacco, spirituous or intoxicating liquors as a beverage; or whose parent or guardian rears keeps or permits the child in or about any saloon, or place where intoxicating liquors are sold, or any gambling house or place where gambling is carried on; or any house of ill fame or ill repute, shall be deemed to be without proper parental care or guardianship.

It will be seen by reading the above definitions of terms that the scope of the law is very large and embraces all imaginable kinds of dependent, neglected and delinquent children.

In order to carry out the provisions of the law the Probate judge is authorized to appoint one or more discreet persons of good moral character to serve as probation officers during pleasure of the court, one of whom shall be a woman. These officers shall serve in connance the size of Licking without any compensation except they shall be allowed their necessary expenses. In accordance with the provisions of the law Judge Brister has appointed Mr. Milton R. Scott, the well known philanthropist, of this city, and Mrs. Mary A. Swan, who is deeply interested in the work of reforming and developing children into good citizens.

The court may at any time make an order committing the child to some suitable state institution or to the care of some reputable citizen of good moral character.

Hereafter when a child under the age of 17 years is arrested without warrant, such child, instead of being taken before a justice of the peace or judge of a police court, shall be taken directly before the Juvenile court, or if the child is taken before a justice of the peace or judge of a police court, the case shall be immediately transferred to the Juvenile court.

A very important feature of the law is that the parent or parents or other persons responsible for the abandonment, delinquency, dependency or neglect of such child, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not to exceed $1000, or imprisonment in the county jail or work house on both such fine and imprisonment.

Probate Judge Brister is deeply interested in the work of reclaiming and reforming neglected, delinquent and dependent children and asks the support of the press, the schools, the church and all good citizens generally in this most humane and important work.
